The Guiteau Trial.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The pressure to obtain admittance to the court room this morning was notably greater than yesterday. After the ushers had exercised the right of selection and admitted two or three, a score of well dressed and respectable looking people, including a Pennsylvania member of Congress accompanied by ladies, the doors were thrown open and there was a sudden and impetuous influx of representatives of the rougher element of society. The five jurors sworn yesterday were early in attendance. Court was formally opened a few minutes after ten o'clock, and immediately afterwards the counsel in the case and the brother and sister of the prisoner entered. After the lapse of a few minutes Guiteau was hurried into the court room in custody of a half dozen policemen and Deputy Marshals. His hands were removed, and he shook hands with his brother and sister and took a seat reserved for him between them and his counsel.

Guiteau and Scoville then submitted an affidavit and made application for an order for an additional number of witnesses, which order was made by the court. Then the additional panel of seventy-five summoned last evening was called. Most of the persons responded when called. Guiteau manifested less nervousness and excitability than yesterday, although in his whispered conversations with his brother he was quite earnest and demonstrative in his manner.

A colored barber named Howard was the first juror called. His answer showed him to be not disqualified from service, but the defense challenged him peremptorily, being the fourth peremptory challenge. Next was a man named Lynch, who is a colored man, and Guiteau ought to be hanged or burned. He was of course excused, as was also the next, named Bailey, who declared his belief that Guiteau was crazy. Next was a colored man, remarkable for a fair front and dramatic posture and manner who related the history of his past life and then was peremptorily challenged by the defense. It is not understood that Guiteau is resolved to have a colored man on the jury.

The list of seventy-five talesmen having been exhausted the marshal was ordered to summon another list of seventy-five for to-morrow and court adjourned.

The International League.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The industrial league of America opened its first National tariff convention at Fairbanks Hall, Central Music Hall building, at 11 o'clock this morning. The objects of the convention is purification of public service, the restoration of the National flag upon the Ocean, advancing industry, regaining our lost place in the carrying trade, discussing the advisability of the early and progressive readjustment of the international taxes of the general government and the discussion of means to naturalize new industries upon our soil. The convention assembled with Ex-Governor Rufus Bullock, of Atlanta in charge. He made a brief address stating the aims and objects of the convention. James Scantlin and E. P. Tabbutt, of Chicago, were appointed secretaries. A New York committee on permanent organization was chosen, including H. J. Smith of California, after which the meeting adjourned to 3 p. m.

They still suffer a good deal from wolves in Portugal, and in some rural districts wolf hunts are periodically organized by the government.

Eriksen's Torpedo Boat.

New York, Nov. 15.—The Times has an account of the trial yesterday in the presence of General Grant, Secretary Hunt, Chief Engineers Loring and Anderson, U. S. Navy, and a dozen other distinguished officers and public men of Eriksen's new torpedo boat, "Destroyer." The novel features of this boat is a submerged gun which discharges a torpedo with unerring certainty through the water four hundred feet in three seconds with twelve pounds of powder. Yesterday's experiment was a pronounced success by all who witnessed it. It was the fifty-second time the gun has fired the projectile, and at no trial since the boat has been in working order has it failed with the same charge to throw a dummy torpedo 300 feet in three seconds or less. The French officers were especially interested in the experiment, and though they state a gun constructed on such principles and with submerged muzzle successfully, they were obliged to acknowledge that the theory had proved correct. Astonishment was depicted in every line of the countenances south of the city, the projectile rose to the surface beyond the target after having traversed the distance from the gun and through the netting without making even the faintest ripple on the surface. Said a naval officer at the conclusion of the experiment: "Give New York harbor a dozen such vessels, which could be built at the cost of one inflexible Arduo, and we could defy the combined navies of the world." To me the key to the complete revolution in naval construction methods. A fleet of cruisers with a couple of these destroyers on board ready to launch at a moment's notice, could bid defiance to the most powerful iron-protected fleets.

Robbing a Lunatic.

Chicago, November 15.—A Youngstown special says Jesse Baldwin, of Baldwin Township, five miles south of this city, the lunatic who created a sensation by appearing in the Treasury Department for seventeen thousand dollars in bonds, was robbed last night of his money in an old-fashioned safe under the stairs in the hallway of his residence. The party of burglars numbered five. The family slept up stairs and the first intrusion was made by the burglars in the vicinity of the safe. The safe was opened by the burglars, and George Lewis, Baldwin's son-in-law, fired three shots at the robbers as they left the house with the bags of gold in their arms. The burglars fled in confusion, and the robbers have been taken two of Baldwin's horses and the best carriage from the stable and had them standing near the residence. They jumped into the buggy and escaped, carrying off with them a large sum of money, estimated at $1,000. It is just learned that the carriage broke an axle four miles from Baldwin's house.

The Star Routes.

New York, Nov. 15.—The Sun's Washington special on the Star route case says: Col. Bliss does not regard the quashing of information last week as a very serious matter. Especially in view of the fact that the government has recently been discovered as believed which will make it possible to prosecute these cases. It is claimed evidence has recently been discovered of the payment of money late in 79. The statute will not procure a bar of these cases if the evidence be good for anything until some time in December next. It is understood that the Government now proposes to bring the cases first in the police court here. The defendants in the case are: John C. Stallen; City Clerk, James T. Smith; Chief of Police, L. Emery; Street Commissioner, B. J. Carrigan; City Engineer, E. H. Kellogg; Chief of Fire Department, Thomas Clayton. All the above except Kellogg and Emery are Democrats.

Aid For Ireland.

Boston, Nov. 15.—The Irish National Land League sent Ireland last quarter $127,845. California sent an additional $4,100.

The National Hotel Opening.

A goodly number met at the National Hotel last night to celebrate the opening of the house under the auspices of Mr. J. W. Zellers. The best of music was in attendance and all seemed to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent. The bad roads kept a good many at home who would otherwise have been present. As it was, however, it was a success, and all felt well pleased with the entertainment.

The Springs' Party.

The party given to Capt. Randall, of the Hot Springs, on his departure for the East, was a decided success. Despite the muddy roads, there were about sixty guests present, who made merry hours with dancing and singing. When the Springs people undertake to do anything they know nothing but success. Capt. Randall no doubt feels proud of his send-off.

An Elegant Prospectus.

We have been favored with a copy of the prospectus of the Socorro Tunnel Mining Company of New Mexico. The printing and engraving were done in Philadelphia, and the general fine appearance and character of the work are a credit to the mining company, which owns one of the most valuable mineral properties in the Territory.

J. W. Gray is rushing work at a lively rate.

He has two houses under construction for Mr. Cromwell, of New York. One of them is situated on Sixth street adjoining Dr. Milligan's new building. The other is on Railroad Avenue. The former is to be built of stone, two stories high, with a large cellar. These are fine buildings and will reflect credit on the city.

Bismarck Weary of Strife.

A Berlin paper publishes an article which causes considerable alarm. After announcing that Prince Bismarck will return to Berlin in the course of a week to report to the Emperor in regard to the future constitution of the government, in view of the results of the late elections, the article proceeds as follows: "We hear that Prince Bismarck has expressed himself as weary of being made the butt of all the wickedness, baseness, calumny, and envious suspicions of 45,000,000 people. According to the principles of parliamentary government, the majority ought to be obliged to assume the succession to the office of Imperial Chancellor. At

Foreign.

THE FENIAN SEIZURES.

London, November 15.—The documents seized in connection with the arrest of Tobin, the Fenian, relate to the establishment, by force of arms, of an Irish republic. They reveal an extensive organization known as the "Royal Republican Society," with numerous members. The books, rules, and a list of members of the society are likely to throw light on the existence of similar organizations elsewhere.

GERMAN ELECTIONS.

Berlin, November 15.—The result of the eighty-eight second ballots for members of the Reichstag shows the election of nine conservatives, two of the second party, sixteen national liberals, sixteen socialist liberals, twenty-three progressists, five of the party of the people, thirteen socialists, and four partisans.

LAND COURT DECISIONS.

Limerick, November 15.—The sub-commission of the Land Court here decided that a number of holdings in the vicinity of the city which tenants reside are agricultural holdings and are exempted from the provisions of the Land Act, and that they would have been rightly excluded if merely held as market gardens by persons residing in the city. The decision was received with applause. It is important. A large number of cases are affected by it. The decision will be appealed.

PEACE.

London, November 15.—Gerhard Rolffs writes the Anti-Slave Society from Weimar that he received, October 20th, letters from Abyssinia authorizing him to conclude a treaty of peace with Egypt. He says he will come to London in January, and then go to Cairo. He is persuaded lasting peace can only be made under auspices of the British Government.

PARDON.

St. Petersburg, November 15.—It is proposed to dispense of all political prisoners now in jail before the coronation of the Czar.

U. S. Bonds.

Washington, November 15.—At the close of business to-day the amount of United States bonds received for redemption under the one hundred and fifth call aggregated $9,999,950. From May 1st to June 30th last there were $28,000,000 worth of five per cent. bonds received for redemption and continuance at three and one-half per cent. This is the largest amount of bonds ever handled in such a brief period by the United States Government.

BLAINE SUMMONED.

Secretary Blaine, the principal witness for the Government in the shooting of President Garfield by Guiteau, has been notified to appear in court to-morrow.

The Mutual Union Telegraph.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The local manager of the Mutual Union Telegraph Company, answering the question as to how extension will be, the Mutual Union in telegraphic connections said: "We will include every large city in the United States, San Francisco, New Orleans, New York and Chicago being the centers. Lines will be run almost entirely on highways and open country, and not parallel with railroads as the Western Union wires, making our service much cheaper, and with no arbitrary delay of the railroad companies."

Denver's Council.

Denver, November 15.—The new city council met to-night and elected the following city officers: City Attorney, J. C. Stallen; City Clerk, James T. Smith; Chief of Police, L. Emery; Street Commissioner, B. J. Carrigan; City Engineer, E. H. Kellogg; Chief of Fire Department, Thomas Clayton. All the above except Kellogg and Emery are Democrats.

According to the principles of parliamentary government, the majority ought to be obliged to assume the succession to the office of Imperial Chancellor. At the same time the Progressists and the members of the Centre party, although able to combine for purposes of opposition, are incapable of governing in concert. As it is impossible to govern Russia on a monarchical system and the same time on the principles of the Progressist party, the Chancellor's successor, in choosing between the Centre party and the Progressists, would have no other alternative but to decide in favor of the former and to endeavor to learn from a Governmental majority with cooperation. The struggle for years by Prince Bismarck against the Centre party renders it apparent that persons who have taken no part therein are more fitted for the task of forming a government than the Chancellor, who thought he could carry out the Centre party's support of the former great National Liberal party, but was compelled to abandon it when, on the failure of the negotiations with Herr von Bennigsen, the Liberals left him in the lurch. The leadership having been allowed to pass into the hands of the more radical elements of the Liberal party, the path which the Government kept in view up to 1877 became closed against them. For the new paths which must be struck out the responsibility had better pass to a statesman who does not possess Prince Bismarck's antecedents.

The Responsibility in the Star Route Cases.

The latest phase of the Star Route cases is more remarkable than anything which has preceded it in the conduct of this interesting prosecution. In the recent arguments concerning the jurisdiction of the court to proceed by criminal information in lieu of indictment, it has been stated over and over again by the special counsel for the Government that this unusual course was adopted because the statute of limitations would have run in the favor of the defendants before the evidence could be laid before a Grand Jury. But who was responsible for preventing the Grand Jury from investigating the facts? Possibly no one said so in open court, but the statement was freely made elsewhere that all the blame in this respect belonged to Mr. Corkhill, the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia.

After resting quietly for some time under this injurious imputation, Mr. Corkhill has now spoken out. He declares that the responsibility for the Star Route cases away from the Grand Jury rests solely with Mr. Wayne MacVegh, and the counsel specially retained by that gentleman while of attorney-General to take charge of those prosecutions. And he states particularly which, if correct, fully sustains his assertion.

Mr. MacVegh can do without notice on his part. They were made by an officer of the United States, in the discharge of his public and professional duty. If true, they reflect serious discredit on Mr. MacVegh. If they are not contradicted, they will be taken by the public as true.—N. Y. Sun.

Things Demonstrated.

The election in New York has demonstrated several rather interesting things. I. An Irishman and a Catholic can be placed at the head of the city's affairs, offices, restaurants and dwellings. If you want to rent property call. Remember that the best business chances are always to be had by calling on J. J. Fitzgerald.

II. When the Republicans nominate a bad candidate for an important State office, the chances are that he will be elected. The case of Westchester is a fairer example. He has hardly a pin-fence left.

III. The animosities between the Stalwarts and the Half Breeds worked off their bitterness mainly on the legislative nominations. This has enabled the Democrats to get control of both Houses of the Legislature for the second or third time since 1852.

IV. Mr. Conkling's friends in Oneida can elect his champion to the Assembly in his own district, though he himself may be such a sufferer from malaria as to be unable to get home to vote for the State ticket.

V. When a young Republican millionaire of a fashionable family endorses an unseemly canvass for Congress, even in a Republican district, he is pretty sure to be beaten in spite of his money.

VI. The Democratic managers of a State campaign should not depend for the election of their State candidates upon the quarrels of the Republicans. Some other lessons are enforced by this funny election, but these are enough to meditate upon at one sitting.

Theresa Longworth, who claimed to be married Major Velterson, now Viscount Avonmore, died last month of paralysis at Pietermaritzburg, Cape of Good Hope. A London paper says that the Prince Imperial and Empress Eugenie were among her latter-day associates. She was a Scotch lady, and has been living for years quietly on her estate in Galway and elsewhere in Ireland.

Prince Krapotkin, the Nihilist, having been ordered to withdraw from Swiss soil; has taken a villa at Thonon, on the Lake of Lemann. He receives many visitors, both men and women, steamers and railway trains rarely stopping at the place without landing a party for him. An Ultramontane journal is published in the town, and raves at Krapotkin's presence there as though he were Satan himself.

The Holy Synod of the Russian church have issued a decree forbidding priests to refuse the rites of religion in the cases of persons whose deaths have not been caused by the excessive use of spirituous drinks. It is stated that from time immemorial the Russian clergy have been accustomed to class such deaths with suicides, and as such have declined to give the body Christian burial.

An old and valiant French Legitimist has just breathed his last in Paris at the advanced age of 92.—General Le Comte de Saint Priest, Commander of the Order of St. Louis and of the Legion of Honor. He was the son of one of Louis XVI's last Ministers, and the grandson of that monarch and Marie Antoinette.
